Who We Are

The Takiwasi Center is a non-profit association that since 1992 is dedicated to improving the health conditions of the population, conserving the environment and rescuing traditional Amazonian knowledge by articulating it with modern science and technology.

What We Do

- Our actions are divided into 3 main areas of work:
- Research and rescue of traditional Amazonian medicine.
  - Treatment of drug use disorders and mental health through an innovative and one-of-its-kind protocol.
  - Development of natural medicinal products based on a BioCommerce approach in conjunction with local indigenous communities.

Who We Help

Takiwasi welcomes patients with limited economic resources who suffer from addiction, offering them an innovative, effective and low-cost treatment. It also works in conjunction with the indigenous Kechwa-Lamista communities of the San Martin region in favor of the conservation and recovery of local ancestral knowledge and the environment.

Your donation is a gesture of solidarity that can improve the lives of our patients and will contribute to the conservation of the Amazon and the ancestral knowledge of the indigenous peoples that inhabit it
